As Zian struggles against the Captain of the Lizards—rising as a hero—the band of young warriors are hardly aware that a larger threat looms on the horizon. But when that threat unleashes the incredible power that Zian has had locked within him, Ugdrasil finds himself wondering if he should trust his lifelong—but immature—friend with it. Archlord History - The Chronicles of Chantia

Long ago, the Elementals infused their power into the very stones of the continent of Chantia, creating a land of magic and mystery whispered about in legends around the world. The most seductive story was that five of the semiteles - Archons - bestowed unimaginable power upon their bearers. Adventurers from many lands sought to make this power their own - including humans and Orcs from the western continent. But though they were in a new land, they brought their old racial hatreds with them.

Two heroes emerged in Chantia around the year 7 DD - the human warrior Nathan and the Orc mageon Wolcure. Both set out on their own quests to find the Archons. Their paths crossed in the heart of the Windmill desert as they searched for ancient ruins. Their instinctive hatred gripped them, and they launched into a fierce battle, magic against strength and steel, clashing for hours on end. But they were evenly matched, and finally, they collapsed from exhaustion. Recognizing each other as formidable fighters, both worthy of respect, they shared their water and formed a lasting friendship.

Together they continued the quest for the Archons, finally finding the old ruins. The tumbled rock and broken roads of the ancient city were not utterly abandoned, however. Destiny had one final trial for them. As they explored the remains of the city, they discovered a great hall. Wondering deep into it, they saw before them a throne richly decorated with carvings of warriors in fierce battle. As they stood there marveling, a man stepped from behind the throne. He was dressed in armor matching the carvings, and he raised a menacing sword. This was Salamander, the last remaining guardian of this once amazing city. He was left by the ancients to defend their treasures to the end. He launched into a ferocious attack. It took the skill of both heroes to defeat the great Salamander.

As the mighty warrior fell, a huge door at the rear of the hall slid back revealing two incredible weapons. Each carried an Archon infused with primordial Elemental power. The sword held the Archon of Fire, the staff held the Archon of Earth. Moving forward, each claimed one - Nathan chose the sword, and Wolcure took the staff.

With their adventure finished, they knew it was time to return to their own people. As the battle brothers parted ways, they lifted a ring from the fallen Salamander and split it between them as a reminder of their shared journey and newfound allegiance to each other.

Nathan earned a reputation as a righteous warrior and built a great castle on Chantia called Wyndal. Wolcure came to be called the greatest mageon in all of Ore history. Countless tales of their achievements were told for generations, and over time, even their weapons took on names of their own. Nathan's sword became known as Drumhart, while Wolcure's staff acquired the name Goshon. But the most important event of their lives would happen six years later.

One night six years later, Nathan and Wolcure were both awakened by an eerie sound - a wailing cry only they could hear. It seemed to come from their magical weapons. Mystified, they both traveled to Belend to consult Gracia, a wise orcher of the Moon elves. They arrived at the same time, and Gracia knew why they had come. Her own bear, Evangarda, contained two Archons and was also wailing. She explained that a mageon called Cyrpus had gained an Archon of his own and was using the weapons - trying to unite all the powers of the Elementals in one person. Trying to become an Archlord.

With all five Archons, Cyrpus would be nearly invincible, and the three heroes knew that one person could not be trusted with such enormous powers. Nathan, Wolcure and Gracia bonded together to find Cyrpus and defeat him. At last, they confronted him, and a battle ensued in the same ancient desert ruins where Wolcure and Nathan had gained their Archons. All three fought bravely, but finally, it was the moon elf Gracia who took down Cyrpus with her bow. It cost her a deep wound from his magic, but the heroes triumphed. They had no respect for the power-hungry mageon, so they abandoned the body in the ruins. Gracia's arrows still pierced Cyrpus' chest. Afraid of being tempted by the power of five united Archons, the heroes decided to hide the one they gained from Cyrpus. At the time, a great city named Dulan was being constructed - at its heart stood a mighty castle. Together they buried the final Archon under the castle's foundation stone and sealed it with magic.

The secret of its resting place was never revealed, but Nathan had witnessed the full extent of the power of the Archon, and he became cautious of the Archon made Drumhart. He asked the fount to craft a magical scabbard, which would seal in the power of the sword as long as it was sheathed. From then on, he drew his weapon only when absolutely necessary, and strong cautions were handed down as the sword passed on through generations of his descendants.

Ugdrasil and Arin finally arrive at Elna to search for Peronze, but they can't seem to find any clues to the whereabouts of the great prophet. They aren't the only ones looking for Peronze, however, as they cross paths with Eruan and Ewan when the two men try to retrieve the record of the Spirit. Later on, the leader of the Orcs arrives and gives Eruan some news that he definitely does not want to hear.
